DLC sold 600,000 units in first three days Japan's Sony Computer Entertainment (SCE) announced today that the latest downloadable content (DLC) for "Horizon Zero Dawn" sold 600,000 units in its first three days of release. The DLC, named "Ice Hunt," includes a new scavenger hunt mode for Aloy. Sony has revealed that the DLC will be sold at a reduced price of 2,800 yen (US$25). As of January 16, 2018, Sony had sold five million units of "Horizon Zero Dawn" in Japan and the Americas. The game is also now available in China. In the DLC, players will work together with a group of hunters to kill the giant robots of the Dezul, who have been rampaging the area, and retrieve hidden materials. The content will take players to a new location in the world. The first DLC will be included in "Horizon Zero Dawn"'s latest update scheduled for January 17. "Ice Hunt" will be available in the U.S., Europe, and other regions on January 18. "Horizon Zero Dawn" is a sci-fi action RPG from Guerrilla Games, the same studio that created the "Call of Duty" ♦
