but now there's an error message every time I boot my pc. it says "Q45/q45t hardware devices not detected". So what are the cards that doesn't work with ubuntu out of the box? l2-Morphl3tsl: most sound cards dont work l2-Morphl3tsl: so what is the issue? Hi, I want to update my Ubuntu 14.04 to the last version. (14.10). What should I do? yea no issues here !hwe l mojtaba mojtaba: The Ubuntu LTS enablement stacks provide newer kernel and X support for existing LTS releases, see mojtaba: that is an upgrade, not a clean install k1l_: am just out of curiosity. what is the difference? l2-Morphl3tsl: that depends on the hardware. some need to be loaded manually from the manufacturers webpages. some dont work and needs a 3rd party program or a command in the terminal l2-Morphl3tsl: its not a windows issue. it is ubuntu specific issue. you should ask the hardware vendor about that k1l_: How can I check whether my CPU is compatible with the HWE stack? k1l_: I just want to know what is the benefit of using HWE ActionParsnip: How can I check whether my CPU is compatible with the HWE stack? mojtaba: how do you mean? l2-Morphl3tsl: if you want to test if your hardware is supported the 3rd party program "check disk" can be used to test if the specific hardware is supported by ubuntu k
