Thus, the American Bar Association took steps to notify the public of the requirements of its advisory opinions. See ABA Comm. on Ethics and Professional Responsibility, Op. 14 (Jan. 1, 1990) ("Advisory Op. 14"). Advisory Op. 14 stated that: The views expressed in this Advisory Opinion may not be relied upon as authoritative statements by this Committee. The authoring Committee recommends that the advice be construed as authoritative only to the extent that it is persuasive, and it is submitted to the Court, as the best reflection of the Committee's views, whether or not the Committee believes that its views are legally sound. Id. at 1. Additionally, when the House of Representatives adopted the Rules of the House in 1995, it incorporated by reference the ABA's Opinions, including Advisory Op. 14. H.R. Rep. No. 104-463, at 12 (1996). Thus, this Court has the authority to construe the letters as advisory opinions so long as they do not conflict with law, but only so far as 16 they are persuasive. If they do conflict with law, they are not persuasive. We conclude that the letters written by the Associations do not comply with the Court's order to supply the specific advice that Congress requested from them. As previously noted, our June 30, 2008, order required that "[a]s a service to members of the court, the Advisory Opinions must be consistent with the legislative history of the Act and precedent of this Court." Now you can enjoy all your iTunes videos on all your devices, everywhere with one simple application. The way Noteburner works Noteburner is a highly customisable media player with a unique workflow based on the concepts of "context" and "pattern". You can get started with Noteburner by setting up a default "context". Your own "context" can be applied to any of the files on your computer, providing Noteburner with the most important metadata. For example, you can choose to always apply a context to any video, thus converting all DRM-protected iTunes movies to MP4 video files. Or you can create a custom context for a video, and only encode this video to a certain file format. With Noteburner you can also set up and apply "patterns", which are steps you want Noteburner to perform on all files of a specific type. For example, you can create a pattern for all your purchased iTunes movies, which will lead to the conversion of all those videos to a decoded file format.
