2. Go to Filters, Upright, Sharpen. You'll now notice that each Sharpen filter is visible as a box under the "Layer" dropdown menu.
3. Click the "+" to add a new filter to the selected layer (in this case, the color layer).
4. Apply the filter.
5. Click the box next to the Sharpen filter and move it to another layer.
6. Play around with the different options until you find one you like.

For the first time, a woman has been appointed to the Japanese Diet, or parliament, in a world first. The former NHK weather presenter, Mizuho Fukushima, is the youngest female Diet member in Japanese history. Her appointment will see her begin a four-year term in July. Japan is the only country with a parliament to appoint members directly, rather than through a party-leadership or electoral college system. The country's Diet has been dominated by men since it was founded in 1946 and Mr Fukushima's appointment breaks that pattern. Image: Mizuho Fukushima has been sworn in as a Diet member. Pic: Science Photo Library/Alamy Stock Photo Dr Fukushima was chosen by a secret ballot by 447 MPs, with one abstention, on Saturday. She gained a reputation for being a meteorological phenomenon during her 15-year career at public broadcaster NHK, including stints presenting the weather and in the field herself. She was also famous for splurging on clothes and shoes while on location. Dr Fukushima said she had been overwhelmed with the response from the public during her campaign. She said: “This was my first big test, so I’m really happy. The emotions I felt were very new and unexpected. “It’s a very heavy responsibility, so I’m feeling just a bit shy. But I’m really happy to have been chosen. “I’m also very honoured and motivated to carry out my duties for the people of Japan, especially the young people.” Dr Fukushima’s appointment comes just days after the country’s prime minister announced a controversial plan to raise the number of Diet members from the current 547 members to 600 to help deal with strained political relationships with local municipalities. Despite its high popularity, the current 300-member Diet has poor approval ratings and is seen as just a rubber-stamp, meaning that the prime minister has full control and rarely faces criticism. Japan was wracked with scandals in the aftermath of last year’s general election and the selection of Dr Fukushima will give Prime Minister Shinzo Abe a strong showing at the next election in 2021.
